For several years now, rural Western Massachusetts towns like Hawley, Savoy, Florida, and Middlefield have been struggling to find a way to build affordable broadband for their communities, given their terrain, tax base and state allocations that cover only one-third of the cost of fiber.

We believe we have found a way. This is your chance to learn about:

- How it works
- Why we can afford it
- The infrastructure
- The technology
- Expected performance
- How much it will cost to hook up
- How much it will cost to use
- When we will receive service

This meeting is being sponsored by the Hawley Communications Committee, with support from Hawley and Savoy Selectboard members.

We look forward to seeing you there!

(Light refreshments will be served.)
